

"For the Love of Grey" by Carmen Emerson

Monochromatic, hypnotic distractions –

Subtleties of lavender, teal and fuchsia take time.

Ocean blues and sunset pinks are worth the lingering.

Yet shades and textures of mottled grey remind me of the sacrament of choice –

A holy rejection of the proposed limitations of black and white.